1. [REDACTED] the following represents the views of the groups within the Communist Party regarding the immediate creation of a South Slav Federation:

- a. The immediate creation of a South Slav Federation is advocated by a minority group, headed by Marshal Tito, who argue that a federation could be presently formed without international complications.
- b. The other group which represents the majority, headed by Georgi Dimitrov, is of the opinion that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria, and Albania should retain their independent status since it represents that many more votes for the Slavic Bloc in the UN. They also argue that the Communist regimes in these countries should concentrate on strengthening and accelerating the Communist program.
